

Dec. 10th, 2015

Dear Nelson City Council,

Mayor Deb Kozak, Valerie Warmington, Bob Adams, Anna Purcell,
Michael Dailly, Janice Morrison, Robin Cherbo,

We, the undersigned residents of Nelson ask that you provide us with the links to peer reviewed scientific studies that prove beyond a doubt that the rapidly increasing layers of electromagnetic radiation (Nelson council backs Shaw's free Wi-Fi, Nelson Star, Dec. 9th/15) are completely safe for the unborn, pregnant women and small children, all of whom spend significant amounts of time in Nelson's city parks.

As the elected officials of a municipality, it is your duty to abide by the Public Health Act which gives you the provision to "regulate and prohibit for the purposes of maintaining, promoting or preserving public health...."1. Health protection authority D4, 523 (1) (a). Until the safety for the above mentioned population can be proven, the precautionary principle must be followed by the Nelson City Council. This means that all parks remain free of Shaw's or any other wireless provider's electromagnetic radiation coverage (Wi-Fi/broadband).

We await references to the above mentioned studies and ask that until this information has been made available to us, that residents and users of Nelson's parks remain free of yet another layer of electromagnetic radiation.
